AUDIENCE:

RESEARCH
METHODOLOGY: Qualitative Analysis

In September 2002, TMC was notified that their proposal for a grant entitled Development of Comprehensive Drug/Alcohol Treatment Systems for Persons Who Are Homeless had been funded. As proposed, a treatment continuum specifically designed for homeless adults with serious mental illnesses and co-occurring substance abuse disorders (the dually diagnosed) was created.

OVERVIEW: RDI worked with staff of Truman Medical Center, Inc.'s Homeless Support Project to evaluate the projects fidelity to implementation plans; service delivery processes and training; and program outcomes at three levels: client, service provider, and service delivery system. Staff regularly shared interim findings from the evaluation with a variety of stakeholders to support improvement in the quality of services delivered.
